(5) The doctoral student can enrol to the parallel training after the payment of the tuition fees.

IV. Completion of educational requirements, evaluation Recognition, acceptance of studies announced or completed at another institution, faculty or degree course

Section 31

(1) The recognition of a subject announced at another doctoral school means the establishment of the credit points related to the subject and the substitutability of the subject with another subject (or other subjects) or rather the establishment of its dissimilarity to other subjects. The student can request the acceptance of the subjects, and the Head of the Doctoral School shall give a permission to that request on the basis of the proposal of the concerned tutor.

Evaluation system
Section 32

(1) Credit points can be obtained by: completing the requirements of the subject, by regular personal consultation with the thesis supervisor, by research work, by participation in conferences, by publications and by participation in education. The curriculum provides details of the possibilities of obtaining credit points, however, related to the fulfilment of subject requirements - in the full-time doctoral programme the minimum number of hours as specified in point (1) of Section 17 of the Act on NHE (40 hours per semester) must not be exceeded.

(2) On the basis of the instructions of the model curriculum, the requirements of certain subjects may be completed according to the course description of the subject in the following ways:

a) with a grade acquired in the continuous assessment achieved by the evaluation of reports, drawing tasks, records, etc. prepared in the study period of the semester (hereinafter: mid-term requirements), in short, mid-term grade, or

b) with a grade acquired in an examination taken in the examination period following the given study period, in short, examination grade, or

c) with a grade established on the basis of the results of the mid-term requirements and an examination taken in the examination period, in short, combined examination grade.

- c) satisfactory (3)
- d) pass (2)

(7) The research and publication activities are evaluated by the thesis supervisor.

End-of-term signature Section 33

1) Signature of the authorized tutor in the SIS confirms that the student has completed the requirements of the semester (if there are any) and they are allowed to take the examination. If the condition of the signature are reports or other similar requirements, the student must be granted at least one occasion for the re-take during the study period.

The data entry “signed” has to be recorded in the SIS in the line of the subject under the heading “end-of-term signature”.

(2) If the doctoral student cannot obtain the end-of-term signature as a result of not meeting the requirements of the semester, the tutor records “refusal” for the subject in the SIS.

(3) The fact of giving or refusing the signature must be recorded in the SIS on the last day of the study period at the latest, whatever the form of reporting (continuous assessment, examination, etc.) is.

(4) In case the examination is organized in the study period, the date of the entry related to the end-of-term signature precedes the date of the earliest examination.

(5) In case the signature is refused, the student cannot get a grade for the semester from the given subject. In such cases, the doctoral student cannot even get a grade on grounds of equity, and their application for the examination before the refusal of the signature will also be considered invalid.

(6) If the entry in relation to the end-of-term signature in the SIS is not accurate, the doctoral student has the right to raise an objection at the competent tutor within 15 days of the recording of the entry. If there have not been any objections against the entry, after the deadline it must be considered acknowledged by the student.

Awarding, improvement and documentation of mid-term grades

- (3) If the entry related to the mid-term grade in the SIS is not accurate, the student has the right to raise an objection at the competent tutor within 15 days of the recording of the entry. If there have not been any objections against the entry, after the deadline it must be considered acknowledged by the doctoral student.
- (4) In case a mid-term grade is a ‘fail’ (1), it is possible to correct the mid-term-requirements that have not been successfully completed or have not been completed during the semester in the examination period if the course description allows it.
- (5) The improvement of the failed fulfilment of the mid-term requirements in the examination period:
 - a) may take place according to the course description, but the correction cannot be attempted more than two times, and a fee determined in the CAR (Compensation and Allowance Regulations) must be paid for the second occasion,
 - b) in other cases it can happen by applying the rules concerning examinations.
- (6) A valid mid-term grade can only be improved (in the following: level-raising grade improvement) if the course description enables that.
- (7) The tutor is obliged to keep the doctoral student’s drawings and tasks, etc. used as a basis for the mid-term grade until the last day of the examination period of the semester following the current semester at the latest.
- (8) The tutor is obliged to keep a record of the result the student has fulfilled the requirements of the course description in order to get a grade, and how the mid-term grade has been calculated from that. The tutor is obliged to submit this record at the administrator of the Doctoral School until the end of the current semester. The CDSH special advisor keeps the record until the last day of the examination period of the semester following the current semester.

In case of medical reasons, a medical certificate corresponding to the sample in Appendix 2 must be used. In case the student fails to provide proof of their absence, they are obliged to pay the administrative fee determined in the CAR.

(7) If the tutor or the DS accepts the submitted certificate, the doctoral student will receive a note that states 'certified excuse for absence' in the SIS at the heading where the application for exams is to be registered.
